9. Can you easily find information on the website? (If your answer is no what is hard to find)

#	Response
1	Why do we have so many calendars and so many galleries?
2	The galleries are a little confusing
3	It's relatively easy to find information.
4	answers in Forum
5	just trying to find the competition rules and particulars was very difficult. Finally I printed it off, enlarged it, highlighted it for myself, and hung it in my office. WOW
6	competition rules, sizing info for images, easy access to forum and easy uploading of images, especially Coppermine
7	I find that competition info is a little disorganized. I have to follow different links to find naming conventions, rules, etc.
8	links - I am used to seeing them in a different color (normally blue) ... having it same color as text content makes it difficult to see the "link" Home page a bit too cluttered info re anything too much - just give headline (rubric), thus keeping it minimal but include a link to take one to another page inserting more write up, info/data, etc. and images ... i.e. anyone winning a ribbon at a special competition (PSA), it would be nice to have more info about the event, plans for next event - if any, who/what was judged, who won it (a bit history on him or her), and have winning image posted. Example: List " Winning Image at NECCC Glennie such and such a date" ... link this to separate page.
9	I think the home page should be better to navigate to find current news. Currently you need to scroll through to see what seems to be news. There should also be posted dates so we know what is latest.
